Cancer Survivors Park
IN DOWNTOWN GREENVILLE

The Transforming Power of Hope

Look, there's a butterfly! How many butterflies can you find?

Created by artist Yuri Tsuzuki, the Butterfly Project has installed dozens of butterflies in downtown Greenville as a visual reminder of the transformation that results from the struggle for life, rebirth and hope.

Like the butterflies, the Cancer Survivors Park will celebrate the strength and beauty that can be found even through life's most difficult times.

Learn more about the Cancer Survivors Park and how you can support the park by becoming a butterfly keeper.

Visit CancerSurvivorsPark.org